

אל תקרא בנייך אלא בונייך

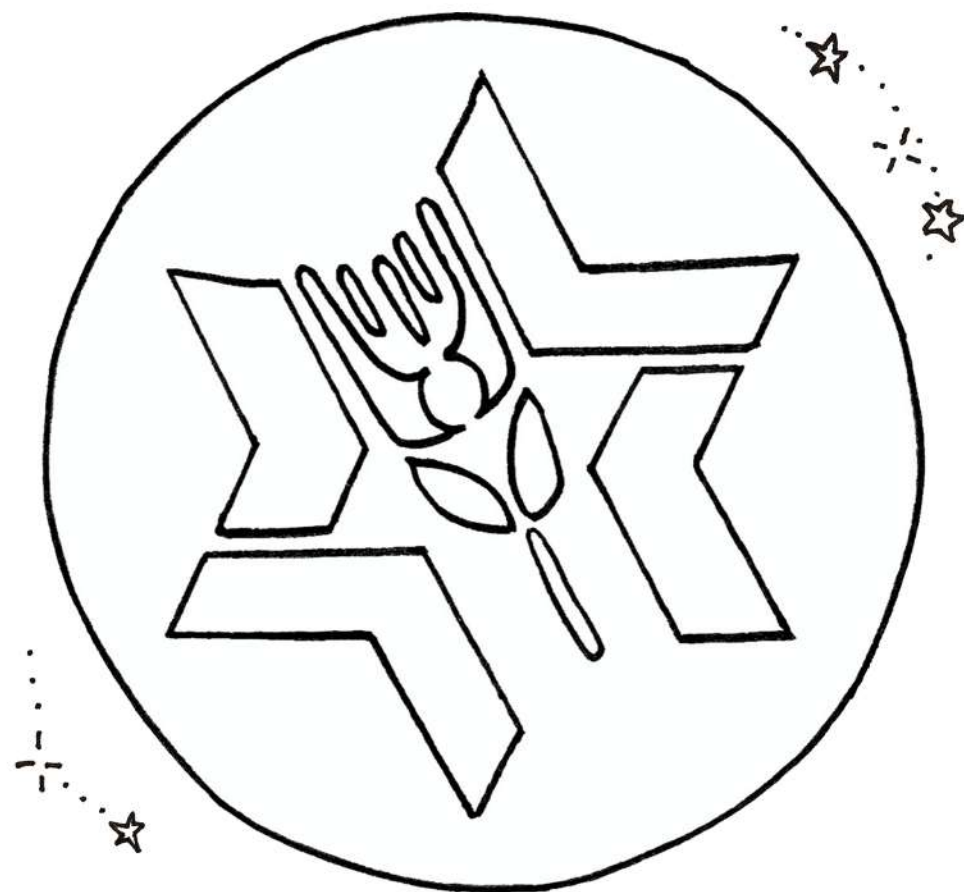

compiled for you collaboratively by the World Mazkiriyot
- we're all in this together!

This book was made for you by the mazkiriyyot (movement workers) of Habonim Dror around the world during this unprecedented crisis.

As always, the youth movement rises in unsettling times to meet the needs of our communities - so, along with organising volunteering and online peulot, we wanted to create a fun pack that doesn't require you to be glued to a screen !

Chanichimot from every country will receive it to print in their language and then colour in - tag your pictures with the hashtag #HaboDraws to find each other and connect online.

HABONIM SA

Habonim Dror Southern Africa is a youth movement that operates out of Durban, Johannesburg and Cape Town. We have a three week Machaneh on our campsite in Onrus where over 1000 channichimot and bogrimot join in on the Habonim magic. During the year we run various programs to keep our channichimot and bogrimot involved and engaged in the movement.

HD ARGENTINA

Habonim Dror in Argentina works in 8 different cities. Buenos Aires, Mar del Plata, Rosario, Resistencia, Tucumán, Salta, Misiones and Corrientes. Every year we have a choref machane and by the end of the year we have all together a kaitz machane, most of the times in the beach and it's amazing, you get to see your friends from all over the country and we learn a lot about Israel and Judaism.

origami chultzah

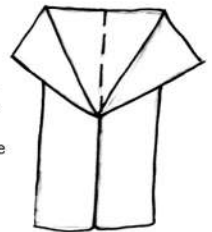

1. Start with a rectangular sheet of paper. Fold it in half lengthwise and unfold. This gives you a central crease down the middle of the paper.

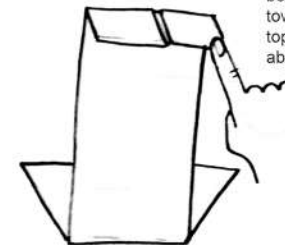

2. Fold the left and right edges of the sheet towards the middle. This gives two flaps.

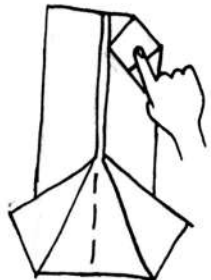

3. Fold the right flap out towards the right side. The exact location or steepness of the fold is not important. Try somewhere between a quarter to a half way down the sheet.

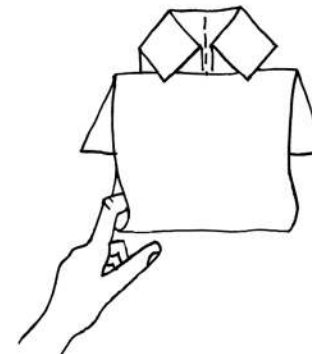

4. Repeat of the other side: fold the left flap out towards the left at an angle. This forms a "V" shape where the paper is peeled away from the central crease.

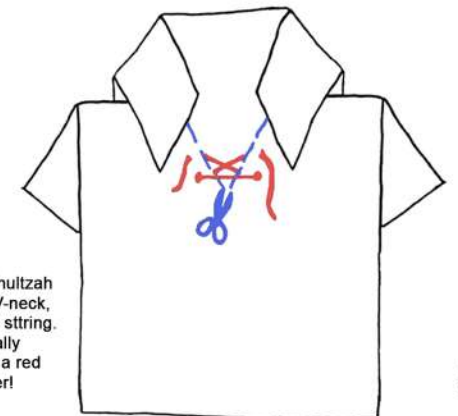

5. Turn the paper and flip over so the "V" is on the bottom and is facing down towards the table. Fold the top edge down towards you about 2.5cm.

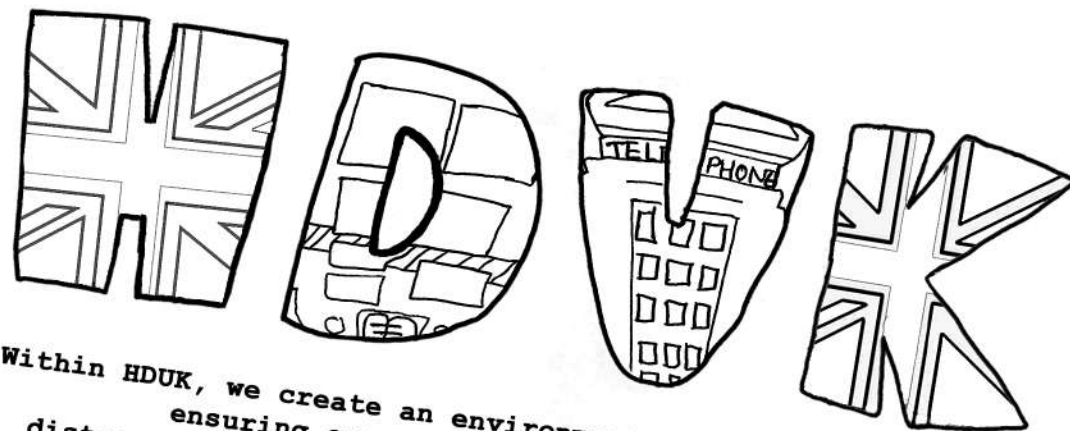

6. Flip the paper again so the "V" is now facing up. Fold the right corner of the paper towards the middle crease. Repeat this fold on the left hand side.

7. Bring the bottom of the paper up and slide it under the collar. Now you can see how steps 3 and 4 formed the sleeves of the shirt.

8. Decorate your chultzah by cutting out the V-neck, and adding the red string. If you're feeling really adventurous - sew a red string into the paper!

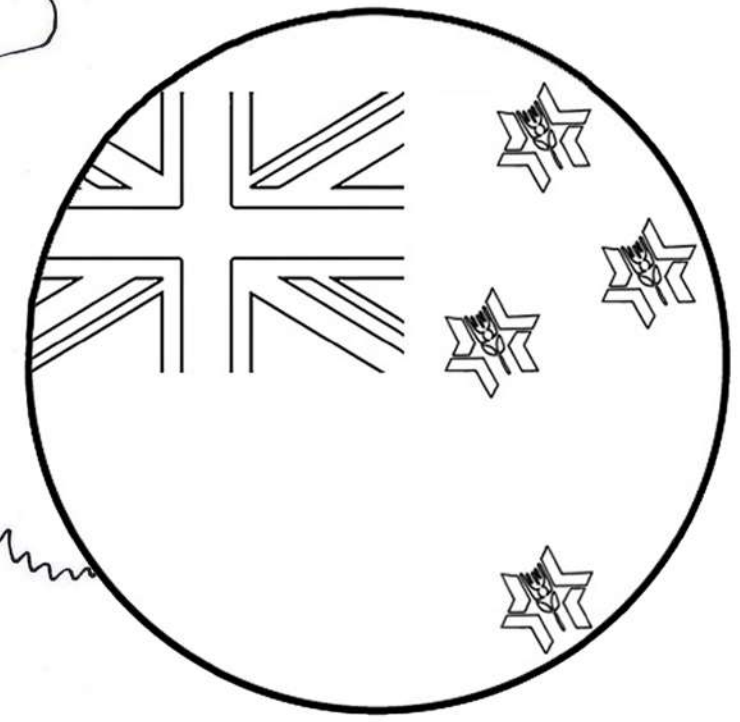

Within HDUK, we create an environment where we truly focus on ensuring our own learning and growth. We remove the distraction of the everyday - the social media, the rush of life - and we engage, hike, discuss, imagine, create, question and listen. We do tiyul under trees and stars (and rain) and through this we share and we bond. We look to better the world around us through our own understanding of ourselves and of one another. We create a type of magic that goes so far beyond machaneh, where the real and surreal work side by side.

Habo Camp in Aotearoa New Zealand is probably really different to any other camp. We sleep in tents of 5-7 people for ten days, and have no electricity or service (literally in the middle of a field). We do team bonding activities and just chill out having fun together, and do cool things like hikes and swimming in rivers. Shabbat is amazing and a time we all come together. It's a time for me when I don't care about what's happening on social media and completely go off the grid without having fomo on what the rest of my friends who are on camp are up to.

ORIGAMI BIRD

DROR MEANS SPARROW IN HEBREW, AND FREEDOM IN POLISH!

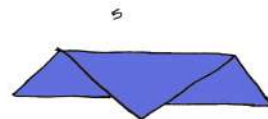

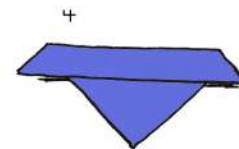

1. Choose your two colour piece of paper (or make your own by sticking two pieces together or by colouring one piece on both sides.

2. This is the back of the origami paper.

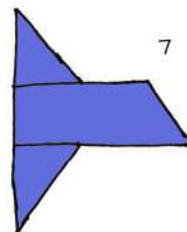

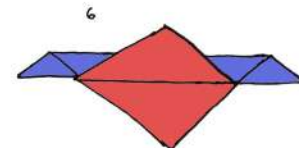

3. Fold the top point of the paper down to the bottom point and crease well.

4. Fold the top edge down about half way.

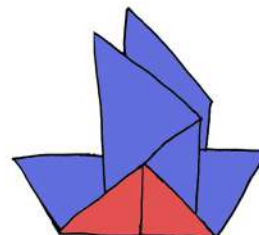

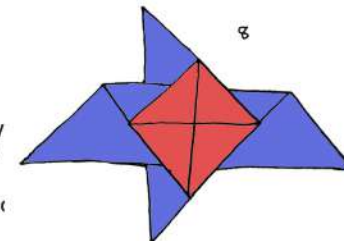

5. Flip the paper over to the other side.

6. Fold one layer of the front flap up, from about the middle of the section behind.

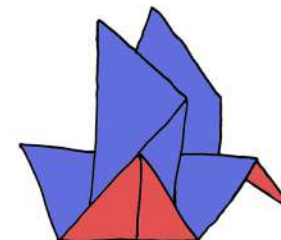

7. Fold the left section over to the right, aligning the wings together.

8. Fold the left section back over partially. The middle section is the body and head of the bird. You can leave your bird here flying with its wings spread.

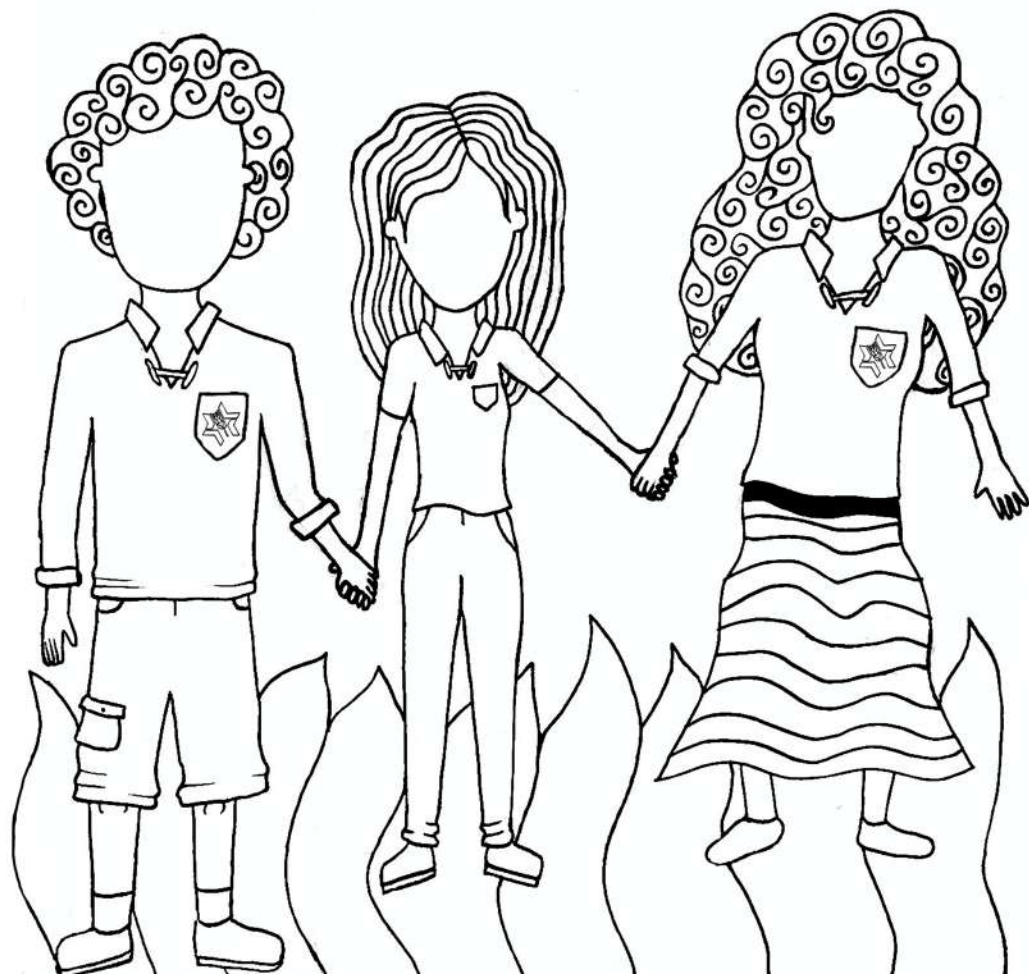

9. Or, to look at the bird side on, fold it in half in the middle of the wings.

10. For the final perfect touch to make the beak, push the centre of the head down and fold into itself.

HABONIM DROR
URUGUAY

Habonim Dror in Uruguay works in only one city, Montevideo, which is the capital.

Every Saturday we deliver peulot for children between the ages of 5 and 15.

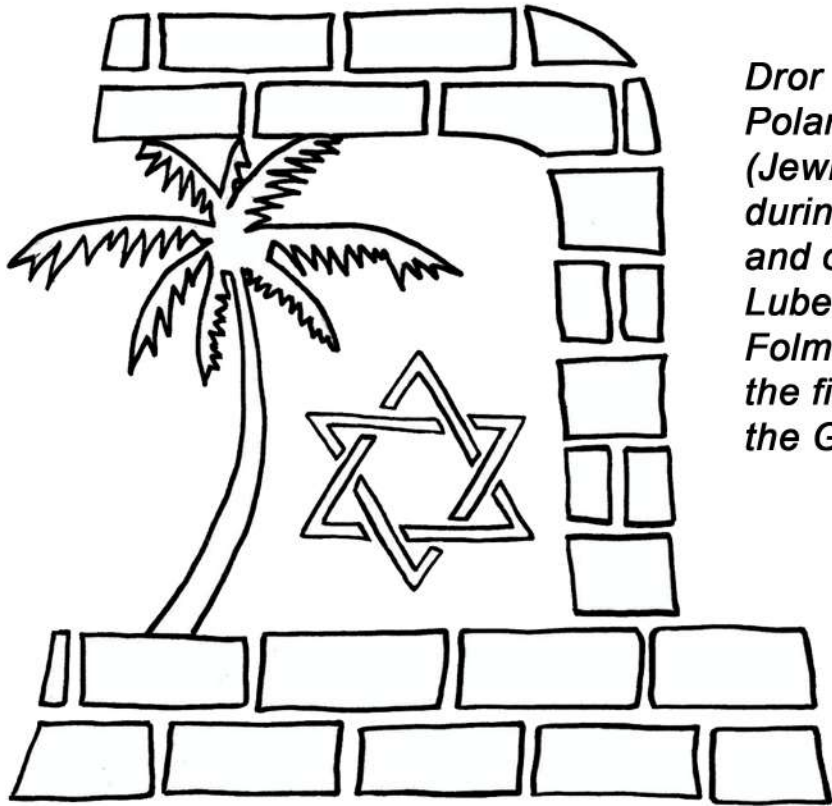

We also host one Machane Kaitz (summer camp) in January, for all the movement's chaverimot, and a Machane Joref in July for the oldest chanichimot!

HABONIM + DROR = HABONIM DROR !

Habonim was founded in the UK in 1929 by Wellesley Aaron. He wanted to make a space for young Jews to get together and bond, not only through learning how to tie knots or put up a tent, but also through learning about our cultural identity and history to inform the dreams we build about our future.

Habonim's old semel

Dror was founded in 1911 in Poland, and was part of the ZOB (Jewish combat organisation) during the Warsaw ghetto uprising, and our members such as Zivia Lubetkin, Antek Zukerman and Chavka Folman played prominent roles in coordinating the fight against the Nazis and escaping to build the Ghetto Fighter's kibbutz in Israel.

Both movements taught their members about socialist zionism, and prepared them in training farms in their home country for the goal of making chalutzic aliyah to build the kibbutzim in Israel. In 1982, Habonim and Dror merged as a result of the merging of the two kibbutz movements Ichud and haMeyuchad into one united kibbutz movement - and the rest is history!

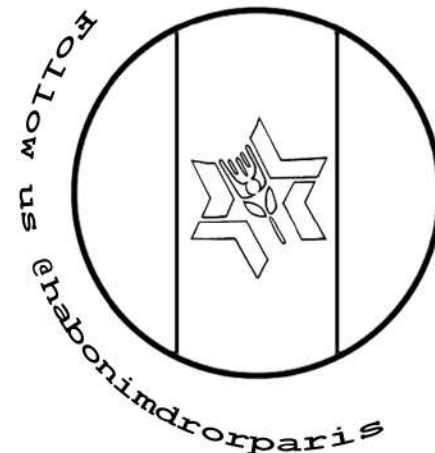

HABONIEM DROR BE HOLLAND

Follow us @haboniem

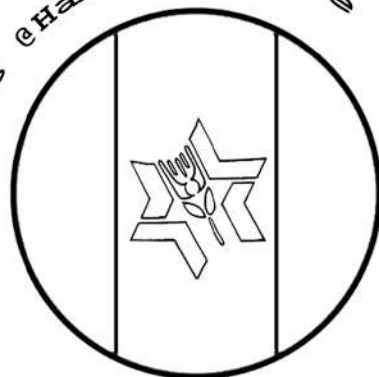

Habonim Dror Holland is the biggest Jewish youth movement in the Netherlands. We have two big machanot per year and three weekends we go away with all the chanichimot. We have around 120 active chanichim and 50 active madrichimot. We in general really support the socialistic zionistic idea but we critique the world in general and Israeli politics and work towards making both better.

Habonim Dror Belgium has around 200 chanichimot and is one of the 5 Jewish youth movements in Belgium. Belgium has the largest ken in HD Europe, which is even more impressive when you consider that their movement workers are 16 not 21-23 like in much of the rest of the world movement.

HD BELGIUM

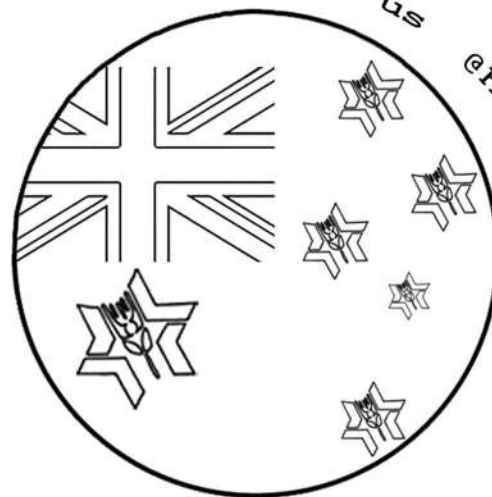

HDOZ has four kenim in Melbourne, Sydney, Perth and an online ken called Ha'shemesh Ha'olah for peripheral Jewish communities. HDOZ has winter and summer camps including a massive senior FED camp during the summer that chanichimot and our bogrimot.

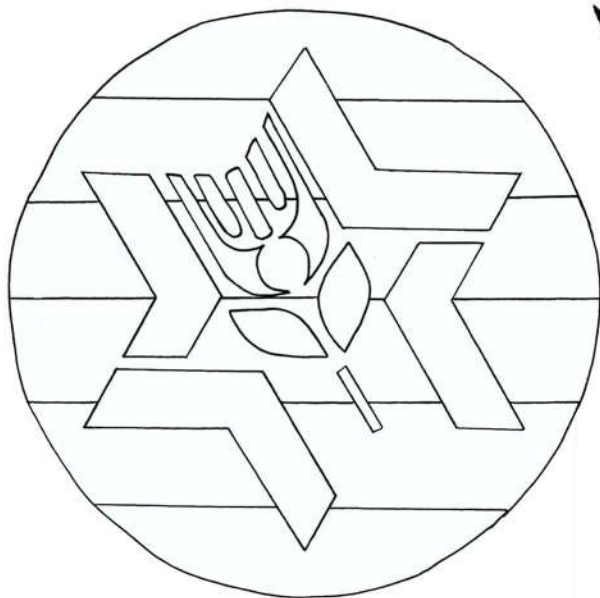

We are the largest secular youth movement in our community and are growing strong!

Brazil

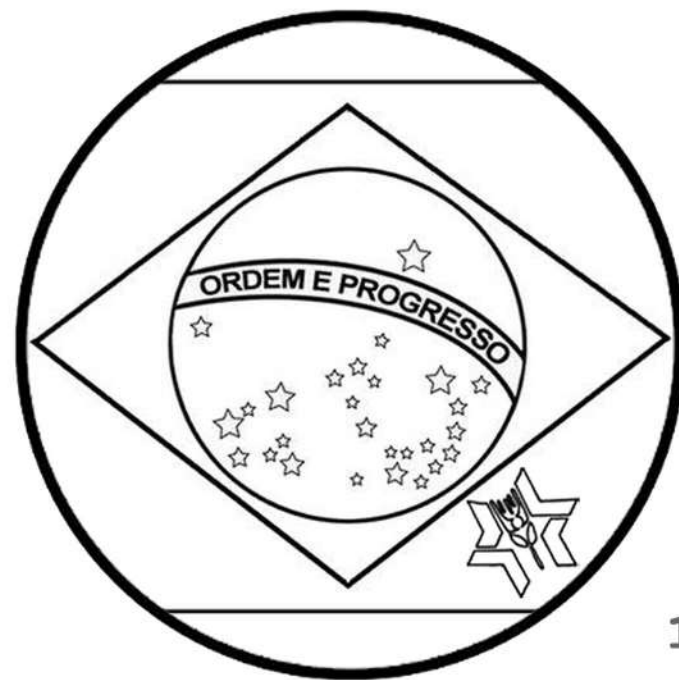

Habonim Dror Brazil was founded in 1945 in Porto Alegre. Nowadays we have 10 kenim from south to north of Brazil, Porto Alegre (Borochoh), Curitiba, Rio de Janeiro, São Paulo, Campinas, Belo Horizonte (Itzhak Tabin), Bahia, Recife, Fortaleza and Manaus. We have 2 central machanot with everyone from Brazil (Central) and 2 for each city (HaSnif).

In Habonim Dror we pride ourselves on being inclusive of all sexes, genders, pronouns and sexualities. We make space for people to freely express themselves however they choose, educate on LGBTQ+ rights and issues during peulot, and creating queer spaces on machanot.

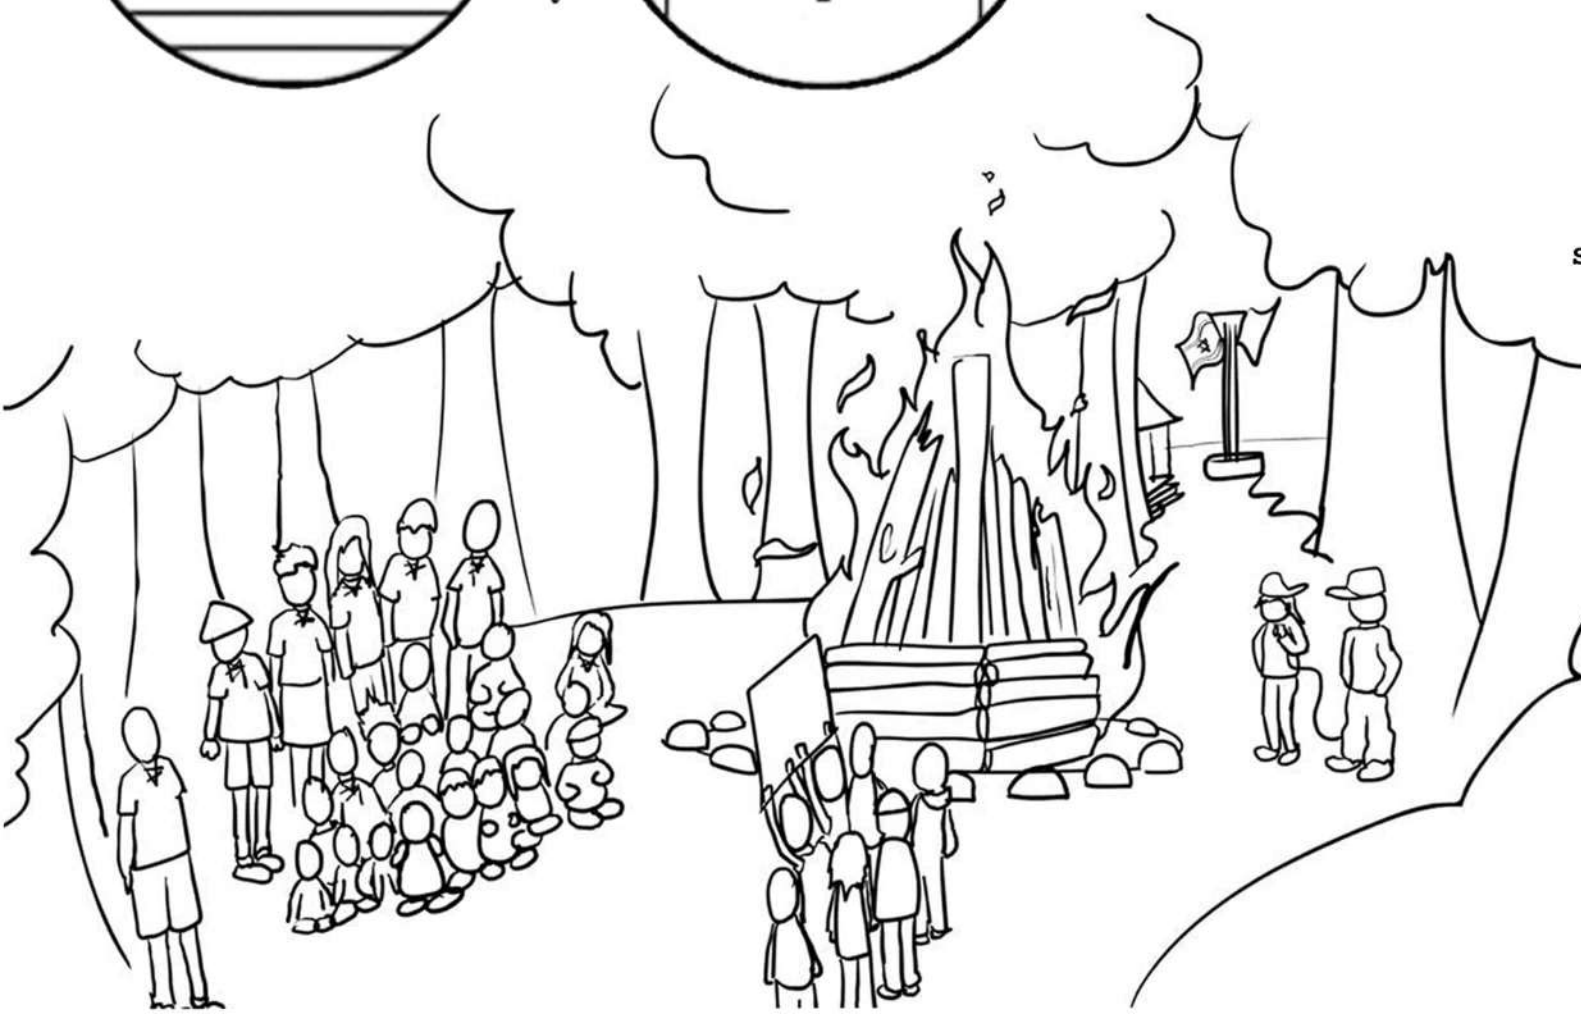

On arrival to a Habonim activity everyone states not just their name and favourite ice cream flavour, but also their preferred pronouns! Both our chanichimot and madrichimot body includes members of the LGBTQ+ community which we are both proud to be and to be allies of!

Habonim Dror has also pioneered the use of gender neutral Hebrew throughout young Jews worldwide. Hebrew is a heavily gendered language, which can be alienating for those who identify outside of the gender binary. So, when we refer a nonbinary movement member we use the suffix -ol from the world kol, meaning all (eg. chanichol, madrichol). When we refer to a group of movement members, we add -imot at the end instead of the common -im or -ot (eg. chanichimot, madrichimot). Teach your friends and family to spread the use of inclusive Hebrew!

HD NORTH AMERICA

Habonim Dror runs 6 מחנות קיץ (machaneh kaitz = summer camp) across Canada and the United States, an Israel summer program (MBI), a Gap-year program in Israel (Workshop), and year-round activities in many areas of North America (called Eizorim/Kenim) based on the pillars of Progressive Labor Zionism, Judaism, Socialism, Social Justice, and Hagshama (actualization of values).
